

Indiana Forage Council

Annual Meeting & Seminar

February 19, 2018

Location:

Abe Martin Lodge, Brown County State Park

Located approximately 15 miles from Bloomington or Columbus on State Road 46

Schedule (EDST):

4:30 p.m. - Annual meeting for members and interested guests

6:00 p.m. - Meal and seminar cost is $20

7:00 p.m. - Seminar Speakers Josh Cox, Wildcat Valley Farm, Tippecanoe County, IN Dave Fischer, Fischer Farms, Dubois County, IN

Topics for Seminar

Adding Livestock to a Cover Crop Program

Josh Cox

Josh will focus his presentation on the role cover crops play in his family's integrated crop and beef operation. He will spend time discussing how the species selection of cover crops and the addition of grazing beef cattle on those acres have worked to improve the row crop acres and rest the perennial pastures.

Role of Annual Ryegrass at Fischer Farms

Dave Fischer

Dave will discuss the importance annual ryegrass plays in his farming and grazing systems. In this presentation, he will share the positive attributes of this forage and his management techniques to maximize the benefits to the operation and prevent it from becoming a management issue.

Attendance at the 4:30 p.m. annual meeting is not a requirement for participation in the rest of the evening. Please RSVP by February 12, 2018 to Jason Tower, towerj@purdue.edu or 812-678-4427.

